BIO :

Cathy has over 25 years of industry experience in Learning and Leadership Development, including 14 years directly managing diverse teams.

In her most recent role as Senior Director of Leadership and Organizational Development at Adventist Health, she managed a team that led the design and delivery of leadership development initiatives for Vice Presidents and above.

Prior to Adventist Health, Cathy spent 11 years at Blue Shield of California leading programs that educated frontline leaders on foundational management practices. Her career started at Intel Corporation, where she spent 15 years developing and instructing technical and leadership training classes for Intel employees and customers.

Cathy has a deep passion for creating engaging learning experiences that challenge preconceived thought patterns and enable new ways of thinking. Students tell her that she makes complex concepts relatable through experiential activities, authentic dialog and an inclusive communication style.

HOBBIES

Cathy is a board game fanatic; she's always looking for an opportunity to try out a new game. Cathy also enjoys hiking and kayaking in the local area.
