FALL-WINTER 2023-24 IMMUNIZATIONS

	Who is eligible?	What immunizations are recommended?	When should I get it?
Influenza 	6 months and older	Flu vaccines target 4 strains of flu and are available as a shot or nasal spray. Flu vaccine prevents millions of illnesses and flu-related doctor's visits each year.	September or October are ideal, but catching up later can still help.
COVID-19 	6 months and older	Updated COVID-19 vaccines target the Omicron XBB strain to protect against COVID-19 this fall and winter	Get it now to help protect against severe disease (if at least two months since your last COVID-19 shot).
RSV (Pregnant Persons) 	Pregnant persons during weeks 32-36 of pregnancy	RSV vaccine to reduce the risk of severe RSV disease in infants (baby will receive protection that lasts for months after birth)	Recommended from September to January to help protect your baby during RSV season
OR
RSV (Infants and Toddlers) 	All infants from birth to 8 months and children 8-19 months at high risk of severe RSV disease	Immunization contains preventive antibodies that help fight RSV infections and protect children from getting very sick.	Before or during RSV season, usually October-March
