

2025 CHEAC Annual Meeting Workshop Session Biographies

From Data to Action: Building San Diego's Drug Overdose Surveillance Dashboard

Kristen A. Angel, MPH, Senior Epidemiologist

Kristen A. Angel, MPH is a Senior Epidemiologist with the County of San Diego's Epidemiology Unit. She leads the Overdose Surveillance and Response program, guiding efforts to expand data-driven approaches to the overdose crisis and coordinating cross-sector partnerships to support rapid response. With nearly a decade of public health experience, Kristen has investigated a wide range of infectious disease outbreaks and contributed to numerous peer-reviewed publications. She holds a Master of Public Health in Hospital & Molecular Epidemiology from the University of Michigan.

Fatema Sakha, Epidemiologist

Fatema Sakha is an epidemiologist with a solid foundation in data management, behavioral health evaluation, and statistical analysis. She holds a Bachelor of Science in Health Science and a Master of Public Health with a concentration in Epidemiology from San Diego State University, combining academic expertise with practical public health experience. Fatema currently serves as an Epidemiologist with the County of San Diego, where she supports the Overdose Surveillance and Response Program, advancing data-driven strategies to address and mitigate the overdose crisis.

Nathaly J. Moran, Epidemiologist

Nathaly J. Moran is a public health professional with over four years of experience in epidemiology, disease surveillance, and data analysis. As an Epidemiologist with the County of San Diego's Epidemiology Unit, she contributes in supports syndromic surveillance and advancing data-informed efforts and strategies to combat the overdose crisis. Nathaly earned her Master of Public Health with a concentration in Epidemiology from San Diego State University. She is fluent in both English and Spanish, bringing a culturally responsive lens to her work in public health.