Alice Steiner, Policy Director, Unite Us

Alice Steiner is the Policy Director for Unite Us. She has spent her career focused on policy and systems change in public and social health at the state level in multiple western states. Prior to joining Unite Us in 2023, Alice spent over a decade focused on Medicaid policy for Federally Qualified Health Centers. She holds a Bachelors Degree in Political Science and a Masters Degree in Management from the University of Colorado.

Justin Barnes, Department Analyst, Calaveras County Public Health

Justin Barnes has spent over four years with Calaveras County Public Health, progressing from health educator to Department Analyst. He works primarily with grant budgets, pursues new funding, oversees contracts and policy development, and serves on the department's Media and Communications team. He holds a Masters of Public Health in Community Health Education and is dedicated to improving the rural community where he was raised.

Kadin Caines, Regional Strategic Implementation Leader, Social Health – Kaiser Permanente Northern California

Kadin joined Kaiser Permanente in Southern California in 2006 as a consultant in strategic capital planning and new ventures, contributing to the business case development of four medical centers, multiple medical office buildings, and the acquisition of a hospital and medical group. In 2013, Kadin joined the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) in the Office of Strategic Planning to support the implementation of the Affordable Care Act. At CMS, he led and supported several national initiatives including price transparency efforts, the Million Hearts stroke prevention research project in collaboration with CDC, and the development of value-based care models such as the Cardiac Bundled Payment for Care Improvement and the Maryland All-Payer Model.

Kadin returned to Kaiser Permanente in 2016 as a leader in Operational Analytics in the Mid-Atlantic region.

Currently, Kadin serves as the Northern California Regional Strategic Implementation Leader for Social Health at Kaiser Permanente. In this role, he leads the implementation and adoption of Social Determinants of Health (SDOH) technologies and workflows, working to embed social health tools and strategies into care delivery across the region.

Kadin holds a Master of Public Health from Yale University and a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology from Rollins College.
