

2026 CHEAC Annual Meeting
Workshop Session Biographies
Metopio

Meghan O’Neil, MPH, Epidemiologist

Meghan O’Neil is currently the Epidemiologist at the Kings County Department of Public Health, where she has worked for the last two years. She is passionate about public health education and inspiring the next generation to make a real difference in their community.

Alison Sunahara, Customer Success Manager

Alison Sunahara has 8+ years of experience helping health departments, health systems, and community organizations use data and technology to inform population health strategy and decision-making. She specializes in creating user-friendly data visualization tools, guiding CHA/CHNA initiatives, and implementing technology solutions for organizations ranging from local public health agencies to companies such as Meta, Microsoft, and Intuit.

Nicholas Montoya, MPA, Deputy Director

Nicholas Montoya is currently the Deputy Director at the Kings County Department of Public Health. “Don’t worry about the horse being blind, just load the wagon”-John Madden